

From the time man became sedentary we have been referencing the dwellings we live in, and around, through clay.

In this one day, hands-on demonstration workshop, participants will make their own house through a combination of hand building, press moulding and slab construction.

This workshop will equip participants with knowledge to structure a teaching program around, as well as introduce innovative ways to make porcelain more user friendly for studio practice.

Cost $280.00 - this includes all materials, equipment, tools and bisque firing, lunch and refreshments.

We would also like to welcome all participants to join the artists at SODA for a celebratory champagne sundowner and a digital presentation by Fleur Schell at the conclusion of the workshop.

Glazing

Participants have the option of glazing their completed house at SODA during a three hour evening class once the work has been bisque fired. Glazing will involve dipping, pouring and wiping back, using premixed glazes. The date for glazing will be confirmed at the end of the weekend.

Glazing Cost: $35.00 per person which includes a glaze demonstration, glazes, tools and a porcelain firing.

Exhibiting at SODA

Participants are invited to exhibit their finished pieces at the inaugural 'Workshop Participant Show and Sell' in the SODA Corridor Gallery in November 2009.
